

Chapter 20

The Great Apocalypse

In its original Greek, the word that was used as the title for the last book of the Bible's New Testament book, was:

Disclosure. The general definition of “disclosure” is, “to make known or public, to expose to view, to open up, to reveal,” thus it is a revelation.

In our new American scripture, we used the word “unfold” to describe something that was going to happen when “the work of the Father has commenced upon all the face of the land.” (See BOM, Ether 4:17.) We have explained that, because we wrote the Bible's book of Revelation, we could write a prophecy with integrity that one day would be “unfolded in the eyes of all the people.” (See BOM, Ether 4:16.) We explained that, if we made the prophecy, then we could make sure that it is fulfilled. Further, if there already existed a prophecy that someone else had made, we could also make sure that that is fulfilled.

We have explained that the “unfolding” of the mystery behind the symbolism used in Revelation was accomplished with the publication of our book, 666, The Mark of America, Seat of the Beast—the Apostle John’s New Testament Revelation Unfolded (pub. 2006). There is no scholar, priest, or any doctor of knowledge of any degree, who has or can dispute what we have explained about the symbolism found in Revelation. If one could be found, who could explain Revelation’s symbolism more clearly and logically, this one would prove our claims to be false.

We claim to be the authors of Revelation. We claim to be the authors of many of the words of Isaiah and Malachi. We claim that our group was instrumental in providing information to the Greek writers responsible for the original New Testament Gospels, and for a few other New Testament references. We claim to have influenced much of the ancient Greek philosophy that started with Socrates, as well as the beginnings of Christianity and Islam. (See, The True History of Religion—How Religion Destroys the Human Race and What the Real Illuminati® Has

It would be rather easy for one so inclined to prove that we are not who we claim to be, and prove that we have not done what we claim to have done. One need only present a better explanation for the esoteric symbolism used in Revelation, provide an explanation that makes more sense than what we have published in our book. For tens of hundreds of years, there have been many attempts to explain Revelation. Since we wrote it, we knew what all of Revelation's symbolism means, and we knew that no one would be able to "unfold" it besides us..

We wrote Revelation for the same reasons, and with the same intent, that we wrote our new American scripture: to confront corrupt religion and the way that religious leaders use scripture to deceive, to control, and to mislead people. Humanity is led to believe that there exists a God, and that God speaks with a few chosen ones on behalf of everyone else. Those who accept this false doctrine (that God chooses just a few to control the rest of humanity), are susceptible to being misled and controlled by those who speak on God's behalf.

We have proven that it is futile to attempt to convince “everyone else” that there is no god outside of one's own consciousness; that all those who claim to receive revelation from God, are making it up in their own head. We have challenged the religious world, and have explained that a sure way to prove this to “everyone else,” is to place a religious leader in the same room (at the same place) as a True Messenger, and let each respond to the inquiries and comments of the other. We have explained, that throughout history, when religious leaders have known of a True Messenger, and they realize that the True Messenger can confound them, these religious leaders do everything in their power to convince “everyone else” that the True Messenger is of the devil and works with the power of “Beelzebub, the ruler of the demons.” These religious leaders know that if people listen to a True Messenger, the people will realize that none of their religious leaders know any more than the people do. The religious leaders' followers will then know that everything that religious leaders teach about God, or propose as God's word, comes from their (religious leaders') own head and the religious leaders' gig will be up.

The greatest deception of all, that which keeps humanity from improving and solving its own problems, is that, if God wanted to solve the problems, God would tell his chosen leaders how to do it. Religious leaders teach that all of humanity's problems are a cause of humanity not listening to them, who are God's ONLY messengers on the earth; that humanity is being punished by God for its wickedness; that this wickedness consists of humanity not listening to God's appropriate religious leaders. This is the greatest, most evil deception. It causes humanity to continue to suffer problems that could easily be solved by all of humanity uniting and rejecting this deceptive idea. Humanity has created all of its own problems, usually from listening to different religious leaders who claim to be God's only messenger. Therefore, humanity can solve all of its problems. But first, humanity must stop listening to religious leaders. Humanity has to be convinced that all of its problems can be solved, and must be solved, but can ONLY be solved by those who created the problems in the first place: humanity.

(The modern LDS/Mormon Church will not confront our True Messenger. When members of this church read our words, or listen to our words given through our True Messenger, and recognize in their hearts that what he speaks makes more sense and is more logical about the mysteries of God than any of their leaders, the general response of this church's leadership is: "Satan knows all truth. The devil will give you 99% of the truth, and then use 1% of his lies to deceive you, once your mind has accepted that he knows the mysteries of God. The devil's messenger might be able to explain everything, but will use your attention to him as a way to take you away from the Lord's one and only true church. Of course, Lucifer knows what the symbolism is behind the meaning of Revelation. But Lucifer wants to convince you not to listen to us. If God wanted misery to end, God would tell us how to end it. But God said ... [and the following are the actual words of one of the LDS Twelve Apostles, Dallin H. Oaks] ... "There will always be the poor among us.")

Our unfolding of Revelation was indeed meant to take people away from the churches of Christianity that use the Bible and our new American scripture, not as they were intended, but to gain and keep control over the members. There will never be another person on the earth who will be able to explain Revelation the way that we can. It is not only the true meaning of Revelation that we can teach the world. We can teach the world:

All things [that] shall be revealed unto the children of men which ever have been among the children of men, and which ever will be even unto the end of the earth.”

(Compare BOM, 2 Nephi 27:11.)

The very last prophecy given by one of the main characters of our story, Nephi, was that:

Wherefore, the things of all nations shall be made known; yea, all things shall be made known unto the children of men.

There is nothing which is secret save it shall be revealed; there is no work of darkness save it shall be made manifest in the light; and there is nothing which is sealed upon the earth save it shall be loosed.

Wherefore, all things which have been revealed unto the children of men shall at that day be revealed; and Satan shall have power over the heart of the children of men no more.” (Compare BOM, 2 Nephi 30:16-8.)

“That day” has come. Because we wrote it, we can and are fulfilling Nephi’s final prophecy, which includes, everything “which is sealed upon the earth ... shall be loosed.” (ibid.) In other words, everything that men believe that they can seal on the earth through the “sealing power of the Holy Priesthood,” (Compare D&C 131:5.) shall be unsealed, or better, overturned.

We have explained that Joseph Smith was not allowed to give his followers “the mysteries of God in full” (Compare BOM, Alma 12:10.); and that, even if he had, they wouldn't have believed him. Joseph fulfilled the prophecy that we wrote for his followers, after they had rejected the original way that we started the storyline of our new American scripture (lost 116-page manuscript). Joseph “delivered unto them many things that they could not understand, because they desired it.” (See BOM, Jacob 4:14.)

We explained how Joseph Smith suffered his followers to establish the various quorums of the priesthood to control the Church. It is with pride that Mormon priesthood holders believe that they have the power, “that whatsoever you seal on earth shall be sealed in heaven; and whatsoever you bind on earth, in my name and by my word, saith the Lord, it shall be eternally bound in the heavens.” (Compare D&C, 132:46.)

While he was alive, Joseph NEVER taught this doctrine. It wasn't until after his death, that Brigham Young and other leaders introduced the above “revelation” and began an excessive campaign that Joseph would have never allowed, at promoting the value of a priesthood authority. We explained that when the Three Witnesses of our gold plates saw how Joseph was allowing the church priesthood to evolve, they left him and refused to acknowledge that he was doing the right thing, and especially not the right thing according to the Book of Mormon.

The Sealed Portion of our new American scripture would confirm and back up our unsealed part's prophecy:

And now I write to you in plainness concerning these things. And these things I say unto all the world; for by the things that I say unto you in plainness ye shall be judged in the last day when the Lord cometh in his glory with his holy angels:

Behold, all religions, all doctrines, all principles, all beliefs, all scriptures, all writings, all holy men, all holy prophets, all institutions, all churches, all governments, all priesthoods, all laws, all sealings, all ordinances, all sacrifices, all traditions, all customs, yea, even everything that is done upon this earth among the children of men, are of no effect and have no power out of this world. In other words, they mean nothing in the kingdom of God. (TSP 18:37-8.)

Deceptive Mormon leaders read the words of the Book of Mormon and transfigure the words however they want (as we have explained and given ample evidence throughout this book). The only place where our new American scripture explains a “power to seal on earth [what] shall be sealed in heaven; and whatsoever ye shall loose on earth shall be loosed in heaven; and thus shall ye have power among this people,” is in reference to the power to “smite the earth with famine, and with pestilence, and destruction, according to the wickedness of this people.” (See BOM, Helaman 10:6-11.) In other words, the catastrophes that happened to the people were condoned and authorized by God in heaven, sealed by God’s authority and will.

Revelation also confirms that anyone, who is righteous, will have the “seal of God in their foreheads.” (Give references)
There is no priesthood power or leader on the earth that can do anything to place the “seal of God” in the foreheads of any person. We “unfolded” the correct meaning of this in our 2006 book. (Give references.) And we can ensure this world, that the “sealing power” claimed by the LDS/Mormon leadership is as useless to saving any person as any of the other priesthood ordinances to which they claim sole authority. All scripture that the LDS/Mormons claim as God’s holy word, except the scripture that Brigham Young edited, transfigured, and made up to deceive those who followed him after Joseph’s death (the Doctrine and Covenants) explain that a person will be judged solely on what the person did to help those in need ... on NOTHING MORE, and on NOTHING LESS. (Give references.)

The term “to seal” means to claim ownership of something. Ancient societies would use seals as a method of identifying property and protection against theft. A seal was used by people of authority to authorize something, or have something that they authorized “sealed” properly, so that whatever the authority authorized would take place. Joseph Smith was asked about the meaning behind the “seals” mentioned in Revelation. In part, he answered: “These seals contain the revealed will, mysteries, and the works of God.”

Nephi’s (our) prophecy clearly explains that, “There is nothing which is secret save it shall be revealed; there is no work of darkness save it shall be made manifest in the light; and there is nothing which is sealed upon the earth save it shall be loosed.” Whatever humans authorize and do (their works) shall be made known. In fulfilling of this prophecy, we ended the last chapter with an example of our ‘manifesting in light” a “work of darkness” that was “sealed” through the secret authorizations of George Washington and Brigham Young that led to the violent rape of innocent women. What these men did, is “sealed in heaven” against them. There is no excuse that Washington and Young weren’t the ones who actually raped the women. These leaders gave specific orders to their subordinates, orders which led to and covered up the insidious act.

We revealed that the symbol of “locust and scorpions” represents leaders on the earth who exercise authority over those who follow them (the tail) and do their bidding (“and their torment as the torment from the tail of a scorpion when he striketh a man” [Revelation 9:5]). Nothing could have tormented the innocent men, children, and especially the women who were raped, more than the “torment that the tails of the scorpions,” George Washington and Brigham Young, afflicted on the people who would not accept them as their leaders. Books could be written that bring to light many more terrible things that the “tails of these two scorpions” (and many other political and religious leaders) did to innocent men, women, and children. Sadly, the books of history are always written by those in power. With their power, whenever there was something written that disagreed with them, these books never saw the light of day. (Give reference to Young burning Joseph’s mother’s autobiography.) Although honest researchers have uncovered and reported on some of Washington’s and Young’s heinous acts, (give reference, <https://www.latimes.com/archives/la-xpm-2003-jun-29-me-then29-story.html>), most are not a part of history. There has never been honest and complete transparency given in the history books that the world accepts. Most of what the secret combinations of politics, religion, and business have done are “works of darkness.” Our intent is to bring to light these works, and “loose that which has been sealed.”

Throughout this book, we have used many examples from our new American scripture to help explain how and why we used Christian beliefs to open the minds and hearts of the Gentiles (Americans). We explained that the Book of Mormon was not written in plainness, but presented things in ways that would cause an emotional (spiritual) response that convinces the reader that what they are reading truly came from God. In the stories that we wrote, we revealed many of the works of darkness that led to the destruction of civilization. It was our hope to convince the reader to apply these stories to their current life experience. Religious leaders would counter this and explain that these stories were about another people, and that God now has a “restored” church which is doing the right thing. Few LDS/Mormon people read and study our Book of Mormon and apply its teachings to their own life. Those who have, have seen through the great evil and hypocrisy of the LDS/Mormon Church and have left it.

Our scripture is filled with subliminal messages that produce a sensation or a perception that we controlled through the way we wrote the story and presented the lesson we intended. Subliminal messages work with the mind below the threshold of consciousness. This is what we wanted. We wrote in ways so that the reader would feel that what they were reading was a message coming from their subconscious, which religious people believe is how God communicates with them. We used Christianity because of its subliminal power in creating sensations that feel good and righteous, which the people associate with feelings about Jesus Christ. This is why we used Jesus Christ as the main focus of our storyline.

Below is how we would have presented some of the points of doctrine—that we wanted people to learn—without using the subliminal concepts by which religion has seduced a person’s mind. This part was introduced with the lesson that a person who is a follower of Christ, is not only a “peaceable follower of Christ,” but “walks peaceably” with everyone else. (See Moroni 7:3-4.) If we could have written it differently, without basing it on Christ, we would have written it as follows:

WE would speak unto you that are good people and the peaceable followers of all things that are good and humane. We speak to those of you who have obtained a sufficient hope, because of your goodness, that a society of goodness can exist.

And now my fellow human beings, we judge these things of you because of your peaceable walk with everyone else. For we remember some words that are good, that says by their works ye shall know the people who are good and who are bad; for if their works be good, then they are good also.

For behold, a person who is evil cannot do that which is good; for if this person acts like the person is doing good, and does things that seem to be good, but the things cause the person not to walk peaceably with everyone else, how can the things that the person believes to be good, actually be good?

A person who is truly good will not do anything that is evil. We judge this person by their peaceable walk with everyone else. We judge every person by how what each person does affects each person’s peaceable walk with everyone else. That which is good causes a person to walk peaceably with others. That which is bad causes a person to not walk peaceably with everyone else.

Wherefore, all things which are good come from a person who walks peaceable with everyone else continually; and those who are bad do things continually that negatively affect the peaceful way they walk with others.

That which makes a person walk peaceably with others is what we know to be good. Therefore, we can say that this peaceable walk is inspired by the good part of our human nature. And that which causes a person to not walk in peace with everyone else is inspired by the bad part of our human nature.

Wherefore, we counsel you to pay attention to what you do. If you do something that causes you to not walk peaceably with everyone else, then you will know of a certainty that it is not good. Be careful to not believe something to be good, when it does not cause you to walk peaceably with everyone else. Be careful to not believe something is bad that causes you to walk peaceably with everyone else.

For behold, my fellow humans, it is given unto us to judge, that we may know good from evil; and the way to judge is as plain, that we may know with a perfect knowledge, as the daylight is from the dark night.

For behold, it is given unto us to know what causes us to walk peaceably with everyone else and what does not. Our unique human conscience guides us to know, without having to believe. We know because what we are doing causes us to walk peaceably with everyone else. We also know when we are not walking peaceably with everyone else. Therefore, as we said, by our works we know whether or not we are good or evil.

Wherefore, we beseech of you, our fellow humans, that you should search diligently that which you know causes you to walk peaceably with everyone else, and what causes you not to walk peaceably; and if you will lay hold upon every good thing that causes you to walk peacefully, and condemn it not, ye certainly will be a good person. (Compare to BOM, Moroni 7:3-19.)

People are deceived by the subliminal messages that they receive from their religions. The deception takes place because of the feelings associated with the messages. People are convinced that they cannot receive these feelings without the message, and each message requires a messenger to deliver it to the people, an elect leader who is specifically chosen by God. For this reason, people often feel the Spirit of God while they listen to those who they accept as God's chosen leaders. Since our message was for the American Christians, we chose the leader to whom we knew they would listen: Jesus Christ.

Using the above example, consider how we wrote it in our new American scripture to make it all about Christ. We wanted to teach an important lesson that the reader would feel was from Christ. We wrote about the people who considered themselves “followers of Christ.” People who follow Christ do so for a reason. Christians have a hope that in following Christ, they “can enter into the rest of the Lord, from this time henceforth until ye shall rest with him in heaven.” (See BOM, Moroni 7:3.) The subliminal message was that these people “are the peaceable followers of Christ.” It was this subtle description that allowed us to affect their emotions and get through their Christian cognitive filters in order to present a description of a true Christian: “I judge these things of you because of your peaceable walk with the children of men.” (See BOM, Moroni 7:4.)

Upon this simple description of a true Christian (one who walks peaceably with everyone else), we could have introduced a set of commandments, a code of instructions for those who wanted an organized church. Keep in mind, that this part of our book—where we introduced the above concept of what a true Christian is—was the part that we did not intend on writing. The Book of Moroni, that followed the story about the Jaredites, in which the part above was included, was a continuation that needed to be included to give Joseph’s peers what they wanted [see BOM, Moroni 1:4]). Joseph’s peer review group wanted a church. They wanted to have some performances and ordinances that they could do that would make them feel/like they were doing the right thing. We hoped to have taught the lesson, that a true judge of whether a person is a true follower of Christ or not, is if the person acts and thinks like Jesus:

But charity is the pure love of Christ, and it endureth forever; and whoso is found possessed of it at the last day, it shall be well with him.

Wherefore, my beloved brethren, pray unto the Father with all the energy of heart, that ye may be filled with this love, which he hath bestowed upon all who are true followers of his Son, Jesus Christ; that ye may become the sons of God; that when he shall appear we shall be like him, for we shall see him as he is; that we may have this hope; that we may be purified even as he is pure. Amen. (See BOM, Moroni 7:47-8.)

It was our hope that the Christians who read this part will judge their own life and what they do and think on how peaceably they walk with their fellow humans. All of the persecution that was experienced by the early Mormons, and is experienced by the modern Mormons, is because their church teaches for commandments doctrines of men that do not let them walk peaceably with others. Mormons have commandments that strictly control the flesh, where others find that when they break these Mormon laws and commandments, it brings them happiness. For one of many examples, when two homosexual men or women are in love, and only want to have sex with each other, how much peace do these “children of God” feel when they know that their Mormon neighbors condemn them to hell?

One who condemns another to hell for not obeying man-made commandments is not walking peaceably with others.

If we would have not controlled how Joseph responded to his peer group, after they reviewed the part of our story that presents Jesus Christ teaching the fullness of his everlasting Gospel, Joseph might have confronted his peer review group as a True Messenger would, who is not under any restriction. Here is how our contemporary True Messenger would have responded to Joseph's peer review group. (We have allowed him to write his own words at this part):

(Beginning of our contemporary True Messenger's words:)

You wicked and foolish idiots! What part of the simple words that Jesus spoke to both the Jews and the Nephites didn't you understand? Think about it, fools! Jesus came down and told the people that he was going to teach them everything that his Father had told him to teach the people, which were the same things that he taught the Jews. This is the fullness of Jesus' everlasting Gospel, which is everything that Jesus was supposed to teach the people, as commanded by God, which, if you would have read the story correctly, is actually his own True non-mortal Self ... But anyways ...

After he taught the Jews, they killed him because they didn't like what he taught. And what did Jesus teach the Jews? He taught them that their religion was crap! He taught them that they didn't need to continue to do any priesthood or performances and ordinances. He taught them that the law of Moses was useless! That's why the Jews killed him. But when he came to the Nephites, they couldn't kill him, because he was already dead and resurrected! But they probably would have had he not come in great glory and power, because they had killed all the others who tried to tell them that Jesus was coming to get rid of the ridiculous law of Moses.

But then, after Jesus taught them, what did the foolish Nephites want? The idiots wondered about the law of Moses! Instead of saying,

Hey Jesus, thanks for all those commandments that we have to do in order to be saved, all of which teach us how to peaceably walk with everybody else in the world. And yeah, Jesus, go ahead and go to the other people to whom your Father has sent you to hear the same words that you just told us.

What would have happened, you fools, if Jesus didn't have to explain himself, and the Nephites didn't stop him from leaving to go deliver the FULLNESS OF THE MESSAGE OF SALVATION TO EVERYONE ELSE ON EARTH!?

Read the story as it is written, you fools! 3 Nephi, chapters 12, 13, and 14 give the FULLNESS OF THE EVERLASTING GOSPEL, then chapter 15 tells of how the people “marveled” and didn't understand how that was it—that's all there was to salvation is walking peaceably with everyone. So, skip to chapter 16, where he tells the people he has to go. But what did the idiot Nephites do? Well, Jesus told them that he perceived that they were a bunch of idiots, who didn't get it. Jesus told them that his “time is at hand.” In other words, that he had to get on with his mission and go teach the other people. But the Nephites were selfish as hell and begged him to stay with them ... the selfish bastards! So being the kind and compassionate guy that he was, and because the fools were crying about the loss of their religion and their organized church, and instead of rejoicing, they cried, Jesus told them that he would heal all of their sick and afflicted.

But then what did Jesus do? He didn't say, "Oh, how wonderful are all of you for loving me so much and honoring me and falling at my feet and praising me!" Nope. He went off and groaned because of how WICKED THE PEOPLE WERE FOR NOT LETTING HIM LEAVE!

(End of our contemporary True Messenger's words.)

Our True Messenger knows how and why we created the Book of Mormon the way that we did. If a person reads the story correctly, after Jesus had taught the people, and had the people not wanted a religion, Jesus would have left them without one.

There would be no need for a church to be restored, because he didn't set one up when he lived among the Jews. He would have commanded his Nephite apostles to continue to teach the people the words that he had just spoken without variation. It was our intent to end the story at the point right after Jesus told the Nephites that he was going to teach the same things to the rest of the people of the world who had not yet heard his voice.

Consider what kind of religion and church would exist if the members judged all of their acts on whether or not their religious performances caused the members to walk peaceably with everyone else. What kind of religion and church, if any, would have developed? How do non-members feel when they are told by the members of the Church that all non-members will go to hell unless these unbelievers believe in the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghost, as entities that will only give direction to people through appointed priesthood leaders. And that unless "everyone else" does what these leaders say, everyone else will be punished by God and not be redeemed, or not receive the same blessings as the Mormons?

How much peace exists when one group of people sets itself up above others and claims to be right while everyone else is wrong? The church that was established in 1830 by the American Christians who read our book and accepted it as “God’s Holy Word” did NOT walk peaceably with everyone else. We have given many examples of how this organized church caused all kinds of problems for the rest of the people who did not want to join their church. The wars between the Mormons and everyone else, was not about the Mormons’ desire to help the native American people establish Zion and be accepted as worthy members of “the house of Israel,” these wars were about the arrogance and pride of the Mormon people and how they walked with everyone else. Nothing that this religion and church ever did showed an example that its members were “peaceable followers of Christ,” judged by their “peaceable walk with the children of men.”

We have filled the pages of this book with things that condemn this church for how it uses our Book of Mormon to do everything but demonstrate a “peaceable walk with the children of men.” (See BOM, Moroni 7:4.) We have not written as plain as we could have written to fulfill our prophecy of “reveal[ing] all things unto the children of men.” (See BOM, 2 Nephi 27:22.) Therefore, so that the blood of this generation of people is not upon our garments or hands; or rather, so that we can rest knowing that we did everything in our power to warn the people of the earth of the great calamities that are going to occur, because of the wickedness and abominations of the people; so that “Satan shall have power over the hearts of the children of men no more,” (See BOM, 2 Nephi 30:18.) we will now reveal the Real Truth™ of all things, in plainness.

We have used enough scripture. We have tiptoed around the Real Truth™, because we, the Real Illuminati®, are like unto the Jesus character that we created for our new American scripture. We suffer within. We groan within because of the wickedness of the people who read our book and reject it.

And now, out of great respect and love for our True Messengers, all of whom we have tasked and burdened to deliver our message to the world, and to our contemporary one, whom we have isolated and caused to be hidden from the world to protect his life, read our words of Real Truth™ about all things—things as they are, as they were, and as they are to come:

Our new American scripture teaches that Jesus Christ is both the Father, and the Son, not two separate beings. Not in any part did we separate Jesus in the flesh from Jesus in the spirit, or rather, Jesus' mortal Self from Jesus' True Self. To cater to Christian belief, we allowed the reader to read about the people who “hear the voice of the Father,” which the people couldn't understand, which was actually their own “Father,” who speaks to all people equally. But because the people could not understand the “still, small voice” of their “own Father,” they needed a flesh and blood messenger. This part of the story had Jesus' own voice speak to the people from heaven and presenting himself this way:

I created the heavens and the earth, and all things that in them are. I was with the Father from the beginning. I am in the Father, and the Father in me; and in me hath the Father glorified his name. (See BOM, 3 Nephi 9:15.)

Joseph Smith knew that all humans “were in the beginning with God,” just like Jesus Christ was. Joseph knew that we are our own saviors, and that the life of Jesus in the flesh was to be an example to us. (Give reference to quote in previous chapter.)

In the 1842 play that Joseph revealed to the world, he presented all mortals as the “sleeping God Michael” going through a mortal experience. The play clearly presents that all of us (sleeping gods represented by the character Michael) were in the beginning with the Father, Elohim, and with the Son, Jehovah. We were all involved in “creating the heaven and the earth.” This was taught in the first scenes of the play. The play clearly presents that the god Michael, who represents the “Holy Ghost” as the third member of the Godhead, is each of us. Michael is put to sleep and dreams that he is Adam, and then put to sleep again, because Adam and Eve, and Lucifer, the Superego, Ego, and Id of our mortal experience, must exist on the earth.

The first scene of this play, which presented the Real Truth about our existence in symbolism, clearly presented all of us as equal members of the Godhead that “created the heavens and the earth, and all things that in them are.” (See BOM, 3 Nephi 9:15.) And it was the last scene of this play that, if not completely removed by the corrupt church leaders that took over after Joseph’s murder, would have taught us that regardless of what is happening in the mortal world, in “the lone and dreary world,” we have always been part of this Eternal Godhead. The last scene shows Elohim and Jehovah waking Michael up from the sleep in which he was having experiences as “the Son, because of the flesh,” but also being “the Father, because of the spirit. And they are one God the very Eternal Creator of heaven and earth, and all things that in them are.” (Compare BOM, Mosiah 15:1-4.)

When the Mormons first saw the original play in its entirety, and the god Michael, who represents each of them (as the narrator of the play informs them) wakes up from the deep sleep, the Mormons were astonished! What happened to Adam, Eve, and Lucifer? These mortal characters could not exist if Michael was awakened and took his place back in the Eternal Godhead, where he was the Alpha and Omega of each of our cognitive existences, the Superego, Ego, and Id of our True Self.

In the subliminal messages of our new American scripture, as well as in the clear symbolism of Joseph's endowment, the lesson that was meant to be learned was the GREATEST MESSAGE, UPON WHICH ALL OTHER LESSONS WOULD BE BASED:

We are gods. We should love ourselves with all of our heart, might, mind, and soul! And since all others are equal gods with us, we must love all others like we do ourselves! There is no other doctrine upon which any human should operate their conscious existence. Joseph couldn't present this in plainness, or his followers would have risen up and killed him sooner than they did. We could not present this important Real Truth™ in plainness, or no one would have read our new American scripture. But it is this Real Truth™, and only this Real Truth, that can save humanity.

Each person exists as the greatest entity of the person's existence. Each person has always existed. There is no other person, or any other life form, as important as each person. We refer to each person as an eternal advanced human, who was never created, nor can be destroyed. Each person can refer to their Self as one's True Self.

This “True Self” can be perceived in reference to what we have taught in the subliminal messages. We have delivered these “subliminal messages” to those people who have been deceived to believe that another human exists who is more important and significant outside of themselves. One's True Self is both the Father and the Son—the Father because of the nature of one's spirit, or rather, of one's True Self; and the Son because of the mortal flesh. It is by the power of the individual mind that we create human experiences—the creator of both heaven and earth.

Our True Selves exist in a dimension of time and space that has no beginning and no end. We exist with other human beings of the same eternal nature and standing. We do not exist as an eternal human being by any choice of our own. We have always existed; therefore, there was no choice to be made in whether or not to exist. But we do have a choice in around whom, or with which other advanced humans we choose to exist. Whereas there is an infinite number of humans who have always existed, our personal choices about around whom we choose to exist, creates a finite number, which we refer to as OUR GROUP.

When we die, or experience what we have seen among us as a mortal death, we will immediately be aware that the same type of sociality which exists among us here upon Earth, exists there, only it will be coupled with eternal glory. This earth was created by OUR GROUP, so that we could have an experience away from our Real World that allows our eternal brain to maintain its equilibrium.

Our human existence can be divided into three cognitive states, where our brain acts and is acted upon to produce equilibrium. The best definition of this cognitive distinction has been understood, at its best, and personified as the Superego (the Father), Ego (the Son), and Id (Holy Ghost). “The Father” is our free will to act and allow ourselves to be acted upon according to the individual needs of our chosen experience. It is the unchangeable law of eternity that gives each human the power to exist, a law that none of us can change. It is our brain’s efforts to keep itself balanced. “The Son” does the will of “the Father,” and provides the body of flesh by which the Father acts. “The Spirit” is the part of us that creates unity and intercourse with other humans of equal power. “The Son” ensures that our “walk is peaceable” with all others with whom we choose to associate.

We are gods, each and every one us, equally and separately. There is no god above or below any of us. We made a choice about belonging to a GROUP of humans in which we could have new experiences, and by which we could seek a maintenance of our eternal Self.

We cannot explain all there is to know and understand about what we have presented as the Eternal Godhead. But from the little that we have presented above, we hope that the clues given in our new American scripture make sense. By using the concept of God, the Father, and of the Son of God, and relating it to the Jesus Christ in which our readership believes, we presented the eternal nature of all human beings. It was our hope that by using the example of Jesus Christ, a person might gain some understanding of their own eternal nature.

WE would that ye should understand that your True Self shall come down among the children of men, And because ye dwelleth in flesh you shall be called a child (Son) of God, and having subjected the flesh to the will of the Father, being the Father and the Son— The Father, because you were conceived by the power of your True Self, thus becoming the Father and Son— And you are one God, yea, the very Eternal Father of heaven and of earth. And thus the flesh becoming subject to the Spirit, or the Son to the Father, being one God, you suffer temptation, and yieldeth not to the temptation, but suffereth yourself to be mocked, and scourged, and cast out, and disowned by your family and friends. (Compare BOM, Mosiah 15:1–5.)

If you see yourself as one equal with God, but your family and friends do not, because they have been deceived by others who have set themselves up and convinced your family and friends that God speaks to them, you will be mocked, scourged, and cast out, and disowned by them. Your belief that you are a god threatens their belief that you are not, and that they are not. How can they accept this? If they do, then their religious leaders are just like them. If their religious leaders are just like them, then God can just as easily speak to them as God does to their leaders.

Their pride does not allow them to accept that they have been deceived, that everything that gives them value and places them above others (their priesthood authority, the saving ordinances that they receive, God’s commandments that they keep and others don’t—everything that they have been taught about God) ... that everything that they know, is false, and worse, is a “great abomination and wickedness.”

Being an equal god with everyone else, you see the power that you have to act and be acted upon. They, believing that someone else has power over them, do not act, nor allow themselves to be acted upon, except if they are commanded by someone else.

The essence of your True God, your true power, comes from your ability to do what you feel is best for you, what makes you happy. This is what “the Father” desires, it is the will of the Father, that commands the flesh to act and allow the flesh to be acted upon. The power of the act comes by the power of the brain that produces the energy necessary to do the will of the Father. But when another “Father” forces you to act, not as you want, but as this other “Father” wants, the power that controls you does not come from your own Father, it comes another.

There is no way that a person’s brain can properly function towards the end for which the brain exists—to serve the needs of the individual—if the brain is being influenced or powered by an outside source. The brain must be dependent upon, and receive power from itself (from one’s “True Father”) in order to reach and maintain the energy level of equilibrium that creates a physical feeling that a mortal recognizes as peace. When a person acts according to the power of the person's own brain, peace is felt. And when the person uses their brain to "walk peaceably with the children of men," it means that what the person is doing creates peace for, the person, and the ones with whom the person is "walking."

There is no peace when one tells another what to do, especially when one forces another to do something (to act or be acted upon) that one does not want to do. It is peace that all humans search for in what they do, in how they act and allow themselves to be acted upon. To have a "peaceable walk" with others, one must be doing what one wants. This is good. But when one wants to force another to act, this force takes away another's peace. This is not good.

To understand the way to peace and salvation, one need only observe a little child. A little child is at peace when the child does what the child wants. If allowed to be a little child, the Son obeys the will of the Father in all things. Eternal human beings are like little children, and always will be. The difference between the state of peace in which a little child exists and the state in which mortals currently live upon Earth, is in the ability of the person to exercise unconditional free will. Only in exercising unconditional free agency, will an individual human find peace. When there is a group of individuals, and just one does not have peace, the others are affected and can lose their peace. Therefore, if it is the choice of individuals to form groups, then by this choice it becomes the responsibility of each to ensure that whatever is affecting the peace of one, is changed so that all can experience peace equally. This is the True Order of Prayer.

It is this peace that people feel when Christians think about Christ. Christ encompasses all that is good. But Christians do not follow Christ. They follow their pride. Their pride is established in what their religious leaders tell them to do that others do not. ALL of humanity's problems, EVERY ONE, can be traced to how false religions teach people that there exists a power higher than their own, and that this power gives God's will to leaders.

When will the people stand up against these false gods and take back their power? When will humanity become like a little child again? (In our new American scripture, becoming like a little child is a prerequisite to following the true Christ, and having the Spirit of Christ and the true love of Christ guide one's actions.

What little child, having two cookies, who sees another child crying because this child has none, does not give one of their cookies to the child who doesn't have one? What child playing on the southern border of the United States behind a fence that separates them from other little children, would not cross over the border, without a second thought, to play with the isolated child?

How long will our True Selves put up with how their mortal avatars are treating other mortal avatars? How long will our True Selves allow the earth to continue exist? Our True Selves know who the culprit is. They know that it is a part of their mortal self that is full of pride, that sees its own life as more valuable and of greater worth than the mortal avatar of another equal god.

When you die, how will you see yourself? If you are conscious after this life, it means that you were conscious before this life. What were you like before your True Self connected to your mortal Self—before the “god Michael” is awakened again, and all of your mortal selves become a thing of naught? How long will this world stay divided? And nothing keeps this world divided more than false religious teachings that have you thinking that you are not the god that you are.

We fully admit, that nothing we have done on the earth has accomplished the purpose for why we did it. Nothing we have accomplished through religion has affected the blindness and hardheartedness of the spiritually deceived.

In humility, we bow before the only humans who can solve the problems that humanity is experiencing. We can do nothing more. And we will do nothing more. We did everything that was possible to teach humankind that we are all equal gods, and regardless of gender, race, religion, or economic status, nothing can change this fact.

And now, because everything that we have tried has been rejected, we pray that the True Father of Heaven and Earth intercedes and shows the children of men that this TRUE FATHER CAN DO HIS OWN WORK!

There is only one thing left to do, Father, Who Art in Heaven, Hallowed Be Thy Name, Thy Kingdom Come, Thy Will Be Done On Earth, As It Is Where Our True Selves Exist In Eternity ... Strike this Earth with calamities that will bring humanity to its knees!

The commencement of “the true Father’s work” is how and why, we, the Real Illuminati[®], created a new American scripture, the Book of Mormon.
